City of Reading Seeks Input from Residents for Comprehensive Plan

Reading, PA – April 19, 2015 – The City’s Comprehensive Plan Steering Committee is hosting four neighborhood meetings open to all residents, business owners, property owners, and visitors to the City to learn about changes participants would like to see in their neighborhoods to be included in the comprehensive plan.

Meeting Schedule

Monday, May 4th, at 5:30 PM
Centre Park Historic District Headquarters
707 North Fifth Street

Tuesday, May 5th, at 5:30 PM
Alvernia University, McGlenn Conference Center
460 St. Bernardine Street

Monday, May 11th, at 5:30 PM
Pendorf Park Field House
1801 Forrest Street

Tuesday, May 12th, at 5:30 PM
Albright College, Roessner Conference Center
1940 North Thirteenth Street

These public meetings will provide an overview of the comprehensive plan process and a summary of the materials prepared by the Steering Committee and Planning Consultants. Each meeting will then focus on the neighborhoods surrounding the meeting location and the input will be used to prepare updates to policies, strategies and implementation actions.

The Comprehensive Plan is mainly intended to provide policies for the development and redevelopment of various portions of the City. The Plan will also address housing, downtown and business revitalization, historic preservation, natural feature conservation, community facilities, transportation, and ways to carry out the plan.
